AMERICAN TELECOMMUNICATIONS GUILD

Member Conduct & Protections

Member responsibilities, protections, and fair review processes.

Updated October 15, 2026 · Plain-language summary

Printable web reading guide · 11 November 2026

This reading guide summarizes ATG's supplied documents. The program is in development; descriptions of intended services are not announcements that enrollment or delivery has begun.

The standard carried into the field

The Member Code sets expectations for safe work, honest credentials, accurate records, respectful conduct, and assignments within verified competency. It rejects harassment, discrimination, retaliation, and working while impaired.

Good-faith reporting and fair process

The Code preserves external reporting rights and the right to discuss wages and working conditions. Its process calls for independent investigation, written notice, an opportunity to respond, and review separate from the original determination. ATG membership does not waive legal rights.

Standing and currency are different

Earned guild rank and current safety qualifications are different records. A lapse in a required safety qualification restricts the work a person may perform; it does not automatically erase the rank they earned.

Before intake opens

This is a public summary of the Member Code of Conduct v3, not a membership agreement or reporting portal. The Code's detailed reporting timelines and appeal provisions need alignment with the authoritative Governance Map before a public signing edition is released. Current contact links open ordinary email; do not send sensitive personnel or incident records through this website.

Source: Member Code of Conduct v3. Summary only; the full intake and disciplinary document is not offered for signature here.

Current web guide: https://atguild.net/library-member-commitments